

T Level Role and Route Specific Training

This element of the T Level Professional Development (TLPD) offer provides you with a personalised CPD journey created from a range of pedagogical and subject specific courses structured to meet your needs.

Course: Teaching and Learning on the Building Services Engineering for Construction T Level

Who is it useful for?

- Teachers, learning support staff, or managerial staff, involved in the delivery of the Building Services Engineering for Construction T Level.

Course outline:

This course has been designed with input from sector practitioners to enhance your subject knowledge and industry insight by recontextualising and updating relevant occupational knowledge.

Study mode:

The content of this course is delivered online and face-to-face*. The online and face-to-face courses differ in course content and together will maximise the impact of your CPD activity. We recommend you complete the online course first to be better prepared for the face-to-face event.

- Online course (TLPD19): Teaching and Learning on the Building Services Engineering for Construction T Level
Delivered over four weeks, recommended six hours of self-guided learning.
- Face-to-face events (C1019): Teaching and Learning on the Building Services Engineering for Construction T Level
One day.

Learning outcomes:

You will have the knowledge and confidence to:

- Understand the course structure and implications for teaching, learning and assessment.
- Improve teaching practice in preparation for this T Level route. Ensure that learners develop the knowledge, skills, behaviours and competencies required to become 'work-ready' and prepared for their industry placement.
- Identify resources, organisations and other forums through which teachers can update and refresh subject knowledge and skills.

Entry requirements:

There are no specific entry requirements for this course, however it is expected that you are or will be teaching the Building Services Engineering for Construction T Level. Face-to-face events are aimed at those delivering T Levels in 2020 and 2021.
