

Thunks

You can only save three things from your house (doesn't include people). What would you save and why?

You can invite three celebrities for dinner. Who would they be and why?

Is it ever ok to tell a lie?

If you are in a supermarket and you eat a packet of crisps before paying, is it stealing?

Does a question always have an answer?

Is it ever right to bully a bully?

If I gave some money to a beggar, would that encourage him to keep begging?

Can language hurt?

Does the way we look affect the way we behave?

If you had £3 and all items in the world was £1 each, what three items would you buy and why?

Could you ever learn too much?

Can you ever really know what it's like to be someone else?

Should women go out to work when they have young children?

Should the armed forces accept gay men and women in their ranks?

Should it be against the law to smack a child?

Should child-minders and teachers have the right to smack a child if the parents' consent?

Should gay couples (male or female) be allowed to adopt a child?

Should men take an equal share with women in bringing up their children?

During RE one child in your class says 'my dad thinks gays are disgusting– in the bible it says that is wrong'?

You overhear a group of student in your class discussing the local traveller community in a negative way 'they leave all their mess and they are not interested in school'? One student refuses to work with another student with cerebral palsy "because she scares me"