Journalism

The

There are a variety of roles in journalism including news correspondents, reporters, sub-editors, photo journalists, football reporters, music or food critics or property specialists. Traditionally journalists have been employed by local, regional, and national newspapers, radio or television. Now with increasing use of technology journalists can also work for online media companies.

The role of a journalist is diverse and can include interviewing people, producing articles for a newspaper, researching and reporting on fraud in local government or recounting events such as at a village summer fair.

Many journalists specialise with their reporting. This can include working in war zones, politics, sports or finance and some journalists work under cover to expose the truth about a product or service. Today people need and want information about everything and journalists are employed to deliver this.
